

This document contains information on the Alzheimer's Association chapters and Area Agencies on Aging (AAAs) within Ohio. Alzheimer's Association and AAAs are important resources for persons living with memory loss and their family or friend caregivers throughout the state of Ohio and should be considered a primary source for information gathering.

Alzheimer's Association

Ohio has six Alzheimer's Association chapters, and they are an excellent source to locate information about symptoms, disease progression, and available treatments. Through this regional chapters, the Alzheimer's Association provides a wide array of support services that can help individuals living with dementia and their family and friend caregivers. The strength of these support services is that the majority are available to people living anywhere in the state of Ohio, since most of them are delivered by telephone or online. Alzheimer's Association services include:

- An 24/7 online and telephone helpline and emergency support
- In-person and/or virtual educational programs and support groups
- An online community forum, and
- A community resource finder.

Some Alzheimer's Association chapters also provide care consultation or care navigation services that help families locate needed services and resources. Table 1 lists contact information for the six Alzheimer's Association chapters in Ohio.

Area Agencies on Aging

There are 12 Area Agencies on Aging (AAA) that provide a wide range of in-person and online services and resources across the state of Ohio for older adults, adults with disabilities, and family and friend caregivers. AAAs are a great place to start when looking for services or other resources for older or disabled adults and their families. A main goal of AAAs is helping older adults and people living with disabilities find local services and resources that enable them to live as independently as possible. Examples of assistance AAAs provide include:

- Long-term care planning
- Nutrition programs and home delivered meals
- Transportation assistance
- Housing related assistance
- In-home personal care and chore assistance
- Medicaid and Medicare information and enrollment assistance, and
- Respite services for caregivers.
